Introduction

The following is a bibliography of material on volunteerism. Like the topic, the material included is somewhat eclectic and occasionally arbitrary. The bibliography focuses on volunteers, volunteer programs, and volunteer management, but it also touches on service learning, civil society, altruistic behavior, economic aspects of donating time and other topics. The primary basis for inclusion was the ability to arouse the interest or amazement of the compiler. Noticeably absent is material related to volunteering on a nonprofit board of directors, which deserves a bibliography all its own.

The format of cited items is also eclectic, since the material was gathered over a long period of time from a wide variety of sources, some with limited bibliographic information. The intention is to provide enough information for an interested reader to be able to locate the original material. With some of the materials this will be quite easy; with others practically impossible. Many of the manuals and research publications are directly and easily available via the Internet; many of the journals are available via a good university library. Some of the material is decidedly fugitive, although it is amazing how many of the older publications are locatable via www.bookfinder.com.

URLs have been included on some of the items, but given the propensity of Web addresses to decay, don't be surprised to find that items have suddenly vanished or re-located. Conversely, many items which do not have URLs listed are also downloadable via the Internet, so do a quick title search before abandoning hope – this is especially true of the more recent Canadian and Australian publications. Google was the primary search engine utilized in locating items in this bibliography. Contacting the compiler for assistance in locating items is inadvisable unless there is a really interesting reason for the request.

This bibliography will be updated periodically and posted on www.energizeinc.com.

Those wishing to add items should e-mail citations to shm12@aol.com. We're particularly interested in items that are chapters in books, since these seem to be the least accessible via bibliographic research methods.
